INSTALLATION INFORMATION

The ATMOX water alert is designed to register an alert when the sensor gets wet. It is generally used in a sump pump or condensate line.

Installation Steps:

1. The water alert sensor should be placed in a location that may have a water issue. You can use cable ties to fasten the sensor in place.
2. Once the water alert sensor is placed, the cable should be taken from the sensor to the controller. Extension wires with couplers can be used to place the water alert sensor within approximately 50 feet from the controller.
3. Insert the jack into the slot labeled “Water” on the controller.
4. When the water alert sensor is triggered, the display will indicate this with a solid red light and display screen alert.
